Love all the hard work people have put into the trail system around lake Charleston. Kim and I hiked around the entire lake today.

Kara Honn Zaritsky

I've heard about it. Was it the city that built it?

It's beautiful out there. It's kind of a little hidden treasure in Charleston and a nice way to enjoy the lake.

We took our first hike around the lake yesterday. Kudos to all involved in creating this lovely sanctuary for humans, as well as animalia!! Truly a gift to our community. It was a joy to view a bald eagle hunting the lake, and to see so many individuals, and families, partaking in nature's wonder. Thanks again to all who made this possible - we honor your vision and dedication to make it possible. Namaste.

The boy and I finally got out late last week for a stroll on the new trails. What a beautiful addition to Charleston; thank you to all who have helped with this project! I hope we can keep our new jewel as clean and well-maintained as it is now. My most sincere thanks to everyone involved; great job!!!

Check out the start and finish location

Lots of great exciting things happening at Lakeview and Woodyard park not to mention Lake Charleston its self. The City of Charleston is working hard to make the Lake a place with something for everyone. Biking and hiking trails are in great condition with more being built.

The trail on the north side of the lake has opened up access to areas of the lake that were once inaccessible. It is a terrain that can be ridden or walked by most ages but still fast and exciting for those with an adrenaline driven spirit.

The area around the boat ramp and on to the dam are being cleaned and invasive plants are being removed.

On a daily basis many different types of wildlife can be observed. Deer, Bald Eagles, Herons, many types of ducks and our favorite, Turtles.

Keep up the good work Chad Isley and all The city workers and volunteers involved. You are making Lake Charleston the place to be.

All smiles today. No turtle sightings but I did find the home of Papa Smurf on the hills above Lake View. Also my hats off to the City of Charleston and all the trail volunteers. I have ridden on many bridges in the woods, and this has to be one of the nicest by far. Well done!! I can't wait to see what the rest of the trail sections will look like in the future.

The trails are in amazing condition. Upper Woodyard is totally dry, lower Lakeview has damp spots in the usual areas. The Levy is paved and done, there is a crew pouring new concrete entrance on the south end but don't worry, they don't bite. Get out and ride, hike, run, walk or scoot. Just go enjoy the trails.

I walked the lake trails today in an hour and 38 mins. The snake I saw towards the end helped skim 12 mins. off my normal time. 😜

Lakeside Trails were gorgeous today, had to jump over a couple muddy parts (that the dogs of course went straight thru lol) but the trail on the north end of the lake is super nice!

Had a nice hike all around the Woodyard area and I really like the new trails that have been added. Thanks to everyone who is a part of this wonderful asset in our area. I am proud to be even a small part of it. There are still a lot of people who haven't been there yet, but I try to get the word out. I thought the work day right out there in the paper is going to continue to cause more and more people to be proud of this community. I am! Bike Hike, Lake View Trails
